During the nine years I have been privileged to serve as a cantor of Temple Emanu-El, there have been memorable moments in abundance. Some, like the first Friday night Rabbi Stern and I stood before the congregation, and everyone present sang with us so eagerly, have been quite public. Others, like individual concerns shared with me by congregants, have been entirely private. Still more, like the blessings of b’nai mitzvah and Confirmation students, have been publicly private (or privately public!). It is not an exaggeration to say that these moments now number well into the hundreds at the very least, and I’m exceedingly grateful for each of them. Thank you for sharing your lives so generously with me, with Marsha and with our family—we feel greatly blessed. In addition, we are deeply indebted to the entire Temple clergy and staff team for your friendship, collaboration and support.

There have been a number of areas in which I believe our community has experienced significant growth, and it will be interesting to see how these continue to play out or take new directions.

In Temple’s musical life, we have honored the great legacy of decades past by preserving a repertoire of significance for the Temple Emanu-El Choir, while also developing a contemporary approach to music that has revitalized the

(Cont. from page 1) Choir’s role in congregational life and enabled us all to be partners in singing with them. The Choir, led with devotion by Ralph Stannard and dignified by its emeritus director Simon Sargon, will continue to be an important expression of, and companion to, the voice of the congregation.

As a community in prayer, we have learned to engage fully through our own voices. We have done so through a broad array of musical interpretations, recognizing that in each one we can discover something a bit different about how we experience the words and themes of the prayer book. Such diversity allows for greater immediacy and spontaneity in our prayers. Even as we continue to enjoy the continuity and familiarity of singing beloved favorites, there will always be room for something fresh and refreshing, as our musical template is enriched by melodies from throughout the Jewish world.

Together we have explored a new prayer book, Mishkan T’filah, for Shabbat, Festivals and weekdays. During the High Holy Days, we’ll be getting to know Mishkan HaNeFesh, our movement’s brand new prayer book for the Days of Awe. Mishkan HaNeFesh is a rich compendium of text and commentary with almost endless potential for variation and nuance, woven among the hallowed liturgies we know so well from years past. The rabbis, Cantor Niren, the Choir and I look forward to joining you in this journey through Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur experienced anew.

Temple has welcomed artists from throughout the spectrum of Jewish music, each of whom has imparted something of lasting value to our congregation. This process has been nurtured and nourished through the devoted attention of our Music Committee, supported by the exceptional generosity of the Pollman Performing Arts Programs and by the Fruhman Family Foundation’s faithful underwriting of special projects in music education. Temple’s Youth Learning + Engagement Department, Early Childhood Education Center and young adults program have also been partners in bringing these outstanding Jewish musicians to Temple, covering the full range from traditional to pop. We have hosted Peter and Ellen Allard, Noah Aronson, Theodore Bikiel, José Bowen, Michelle Citrin, Marvin Hamlisch (z”l), Noam Katz, Shira Kline, Danny Maseng, Josh Nelson, Joshua Nelson (two different guys!), Dan Nichols, Mah Tovu, Mandy Patinkin, Simon Sargon, Seeds of Sun, Julie Silver, and Cantors Sheri Allen, Roslyn Barak (who becomes our Interim Cantor in the fall), Mark Childs, Jacob Cohen, Don Croll, Shira Ginsburg, Mo Glazman, Evan Kent, Alberto Mizrahi, Seth Warner and Itzhak Zhreberk for concerts and for worship. It’s vital that Temple continue to be a dynamic center for Jewish musical creativity and artistic expression.

It was also a great privilege for us to welcome Cantor Leslie Niren, who, along with Rollin Simmons, her predecessor as Student Cantor and now Cantor of Aspen Jewish Congregation, helped bring about genuine transformation throughout the Temple community. Cantor Niren continues to be a vibrant source of inspiration, innovation and enthusiasm, touching so many lives with her singing and her spirit.

Another area in which we’ve experienced renewal is that of spiritual practice. So many congregants have augmented aspects of their inner experience, whether through Mussar (a favorite pursuit of Marsha’s), Chasidic texts, Jewish mysticism or other areas of study leading toward greater mindfulness and inspiration in our day-to-day lives. This year’s Prayer Project core group undertook a probing exploration of how communal prayer can enliven our Jewish identities, while connecting us more vibrantly to one another and to the greater whole of which we are part. Ensuring that these connections prosper is perhaps our most important opportunity moving forward.

Our congregation is blessed with an exceptional cadre of lay leaders who guide and sustain us with wisdom and dedication. During my tenure we have flourished under the leadership of presidents Frank Risch, Bert Fischel, Larry Ginsburg, Robin Kosberg, Scott McCartney and Mark Zilbermann, along with countless other volunteers, board and committee members. WRJ/Sisterhood and Brotherhood have also been our strength.

Finally, I’d like to offer a special word of thanks to the clergy with whom I’ve been honored to share a leadership role at Temple. Rabbi David Stern has been a steadfast, compassionate and brilliant senior partner, and Rabbis Adam Allenberg, Kimberly Herzog Cohen, Barry Diamond, Rachel Goldenberg, Oren Hayon, Gerald Klein (of blessed memory), Asher Knight, Debra Robbins and Amy Ross, along with Cantor Leslie Niren, have been cherished colleagues and friends.

To everyone whose soul is connected to this sacred community of relationship, my prayer goes out that we be continuously strengthened in our commitment to bring about greater wholeness and holiness in the world. Kein y’hi ratzon: May we be blessed to make it so.
Welcoming Rabbi Brian Zimmerman as Scholar-in-Residence

We welcome Rabbi Brian Zimmerman, who will join our clergy for the 2015-16 year as Temple Emanu-El Scholar-in-Residence. A gifted teacher and rabbinic leader with deep insight into both Torah and congregational life, Rabbi Zimmerman served for nine years as Regional Director for the southwest region of the Union for Reform Judaism, and in that role has helped to teach and counsel congregations across our region and throughout our movement. In the coming year, Rabbi Zimmerman will be the primary teacher of Chever Torah, offer additional adult learning opportunities and work with some of our conversion students as they make their way into Jewish life. Of course, Rabbi Zimmerman is also a longtime and beloved member of our congregation: He is the son of Rabbi Sheldon and Judy Zimmerman, husband to Mimi Zimmerman, proud father of Saul and Molly and son-in-law to Jody and Mel Platt. We are thrilled to welcome Rabbi Zimmerman as our honored teacher in the coming year.

Alef-Bet: Game On!

We are pleased to announce adult Hebrew classes will be starting in the fall. If you are interested in learning to read our sacred language, as a beginner or a more advanced student, please answer a few short questions at the link below. This will help us set the most convenient class schedule and hire the best faculty to share the sweetness of Hebrew with our adult learners. These classes are perfect for parents of b’nai mitzvah children, for new Jews, for those who seek more familiarity with Hebrew prayer, or who simply want to deepen their connections to Jews around the world.

TISHAH B’AV
SATURDAY, JULY 25
7:30PM | TOBIAN AUDITORIUM

Our annual Tishah B’Av observance of study, prayer, silence and song will be held at 7:30pm on Saturday, July 25 in Tobian Auditorium, led by Rabbi Asher Knight and Cantor Leslie Niren. Meaning “ninth of Av,” Tishah B’Av is a traditional day of mourning the destruction of both ancient Temples in Jerusalem. In Reform Judaism, it has become our practice to remember Jewish tragedies and recommit ourselves and our community to Jewish life.

Summertime, and the Praying is Easy

Tobian Auditorium is the cool place to be on Shabbat nights this summer. Come casual and enjoy a great nosh at the Early Oneg, as well as after the service. Summer is also a great time to jump into the refreshing currents of Torah at our weekly Chever Torah classes, starting at 9am, followed by the Shabbat morning service.
Sh’ma Emanu-El, Your Way

Sh’ma Emanu-El is Temple’s dynamic, congregational wide program to create communities in small groups, where people connect through shared interests and a common curriculum developed by Temple clergy. Heard the buzz? There’s a place for you!

Join an Existing Group
Check the group list on the website at tedallas.org/community/shma-groups. Open groups are listed first. Closed groups are included to show the range of interests and activities represented.

Create a Group or Learn to Lead
New Sh’ma Groups will be forming in the fall, and we are training new Group Guides this summer. Groups can be based on geography, interests, life stages and more.

Meet Other Families
Meet other families in your neighborhood or who share a passion for social justice. We want to help you connect with other Temple families.

Summer Collections Help our Social Justice Partners

Showing Our Hearts
June collection benefits Heart House in Vickery Meadow
Heart House is a free, after-school program in Vickery Meadow that provides a safe haven and academic support to at-risk children, while encouraging them to become good citizens. During the school year, children arrive at Heart House after school for snacks, tutoring and educational activities. During the summer, children combine learning and play.

Requested items: Outdoor sporting equipment such as footballs, basketballs, soccer balls, jump ropes and more, as well as art supplies such as markers and construction paper.

Summer volunteer opportunities: New this summer: Teens 13 and up can volunteer here. Dates are July 6-Aug.13, weekdays 12-4pm. From 12:30-2:30pm, volunteers will work with the children on their reading skills, and from 2:30-3:30pm the students will engage in health and fitness-related activities. Contact: Debby Stein, debbystein@gmail.com

The Path to Independence
July collection benefits Family Gateway, Dallas’ only shelter for homeless families
Family Gateway, Dallas’ only shelter for homeless families, has served families in need for nearly 30 years. In addition to providing safe and stable housing and comprehensive case management, Family Gateway works with partner agencies to deliver services including mental and physical health care; employment readiness and job training; financial literacy; and educational support, GED preparation classes and assistance seeking higher education. It was founded by Annette Strauss of blessed memory, former Dallas mayor and Temple member.

Requested items include: twin sheet sets, bath towels and wash cloths.

July and Beyond
Adopt a Room: Family Gateway has 30 rooms where homeless families live until they transition into permanent supportive housing. Temple Emanu-El has adopted one of the rooms and would love your help creating a warm, inviting space for the new family. Needs include sheets, towels and decorative items. The room will turn over three to four times a year.

Teach the Residents: Teach adult computer skills, job readiness, financial literacy, interview techniques and any other skills that you think might benefit residents.

Play with the Kids: Whether you love arts and crafts, enjoy reading aloud or want to teach a new game, there is an opportunity for you.

Beach Reading for the Soul
Author and teacher Alan Morinis, dean of The Mussar Institute, will return to Dallas to be with us for S’lichot as we prepare to enter the spiritually rich High Holy Days. His work in the area of Mussar, a Jewish way of cultivating personal growth and spiritual discovery, is accessible, meaningful and relevant to our daily lives. Add his book, Everyday Holiness to your summer reading list and mark your calendar to meet this outstanding Jewish leader on Sept. 4-6.
Shabbat Shalom!

On behalf of all of my family, I want to thank all of you who offered condolences on the passing of my grandmother in May. Nancy, the kids and I are truly grateful for your kindness, and thankful as always to be part of such a caring and loving community.

In gratitude,
Rabbi David Stern

High Holy Days Sneak Peek
The intense period of reflection and renewal begins with the month of Elul and extends through Simchat Torah. The annual booklet will be mailed and emailed to members in mid-July. Until then, here are some highlights and announcements for this year’s holidays.

Family Friendly: New Location for Families with School-Age Children
We are pleased and grateful to partner with our friends at Park Cities Baptist Church, who have graciously offered their social hall to our families. We encourage you to extend your thanks as well. The church is at 3933 Northwest Parkway and there’s plenty of parking.

Good to Better: Tashlich for Tots
After the Service for Families with Young Children, we will engage in the ceremony of Tashlich and symbolically cast our sins in the water, providing our children with a concrete lesson on what it means to be better people. Children will participate in experiential “stations” related to High Holy Days themes and play in our Cristol Nature Playscape. This is in addition to our annual Tashlich ceremony at Caruth Park.

Ask Big Questions: Yom Kippur Afternoon
Connect with other congregants at the annual study session, which this year introduces “Ask Big Questions,” conversation starters for adult learners. The session will be led by Rabbi Asher Knight.

A New Prayer Companion: Mishkan HaNefesh
We introduce a new machzor, or prayer book, at High Holy Days services this year. Ordering information can be found on Page 15 and on the website at participate.tedallas.org/highholydays

You’re leaving the nest, yes, and taking your Judaism with you. Come to Temple for a special send-off with Rabbi Kimberly Herzog Cohen as you begin to create your new Jewish life.

Students: Meet together for a nosh, discussion and fun before you head off to college.

Parents: Discuss the joys and challenges of this upcoming transition in your family’s life.

Parents and students will gather together at the conclusion for a special blessing.

18th Anniversary
CASINO JACK
JULY 7 • RATED R

Discussion led by Rabbi Asher Knight

A creative, irreverent retelling of the rise and fall of Jack Abramoff, a corrupt D.C. lobbyist whose influence reached the White House. Kevin Spacey was nominated for an Oscar for his hilarious performance as the Jew who sees no contradiction between the way he cheats others out of their hard-earned money and his use of those profits to benefit the Jewish community. Beneath the film’s gleeful surface lies a cautionary tale about corruption, big money in politics and the lies we tell ourselves.

Best Feature, St. Louis Film Festival

IDA
JULY 14 • RATED PG-13

Discussion led by Rabbi Kimberly Herzog Cohen

6:30 PM: Perogies Served • Subtitles

Set in 1962 Poland, the movie is a stunningly beautiful story of Ida, known as Anna, an orphan who grew up in a convent. It is the only life she has known, and as she grows up, she resolves to become a nun herself and emulate the women who reared her. Before she can take her final vows, her Mother Superior insists that she meet with her aunt Wanda, her only living relative. On a journey the two undertake together, Anna discovers the truth about her religion and her family’s tragic story.

HAVA NAGILA
JULY 21 • FAMILY FRIENDLY

Discussion led by Cantor Leslie Niren and special guest Sophie Sartain, writer-producer of “Hava Nagila”

6:30 PM: Israeli Dancing • Subtitles

You know the words, you know the melody and you even know the dance! Come learn how “Hava Nagila” became the Jewish song of celebration. This documentary follows a journey around the globe using Jewish history, Jewish identity and personal narratives from everyday people and award-winning singers. Featuring interviews with Harry Belafonte, Connie Francis, Glen Campbell, Leonard Nimoy, Regina Spektor and more, you will want to sing and dance along to every frame.

WALTZ WITH BASHIR
JULY 28 • RATED R

Discussion led by Rabbi Debra Robbins

Subtitles • Animated

In 1982, Director Ari Folman was a 19-year-old soldier in the Israeli Defense Forces. Twenty-four years later, he meets a friend who served with him in the army and is now suffering from nightmares connected to combat in the Lebanon War. Folman uses a combination of interviews, animation, immersive sound effects and live news footage to tap into the experience of post traumatic stress.

What’s up?

Temple has been on the move this spring, with congregational journeys as diverse as Central Europe and Arkansas. We’ve honored our members, moved our ECEC to temporary quarters at Shearith Israel and celebrated our major donors to Our Temple | Our Future. Even with the wettest May on record in Dallas history, it’s all sunshine at 8500 Hillcrest.

Pre-Order Your Own Copies of Mishkan HaNefesh

The High Holy Days are not as far off as they seem! Be sure to order the new prayer book that our congregation will begin using on Rosh Hashanah. We have prayed and studied from the rich and diverse pages of liturgy, poetry and wisdom. At long last, the books are available. Don’t miss out on the discounted price on a limited supply we have for those who purchase early.
