Near the end of April, the Temple Emanu-El Choir and I participated in a Yom HaShoah commemoration held at the Highland Springs senior living community in Dallas. The event was conceived and organized by Temple member Francine Daner, who sings in our choir. By the time the program began, the community room was packed.

The audience included Jewish residents, of course, but a large non-Jewish contingent was present as well. There was something striking about this blended gathering, committed to a common cause while coming from such divergent backgrounds. The atmosphere was filled from the outset with attentiveness and reverence.

Francine had organized the program so that the musical selections were interspersed with readings on Holocaust themes by local writers, many of whom were well known. Some passages were searing, others reflective, and each was given its voice by a designated member of the community.

The Choir offered a balanced program that included two settings of the poem “Even When God is Silent,” two of “Ani Ma’amín” (“I Believe”), and a single setting of Hannah Szenes’ poem “Blessed is the Match” (“Ashrei Hagafrum”), to music by Temple’s emeritus music director, Simon Sargon. In addition, I sang Szenes’ familiar “Eli, Eli” (“O Lord, My God”) and chanted the memorial prayer.

The musical sources were varied, ranging from original works by contemporary American composers to haunting (Continued on Page 17)
OUR FUTURE | UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Watch this space for news as we embark on the exciting project to build the Temple of the future.

PARKING
Since early June, construction fences have been in place and all parking is limited to the south lot. The Tobian kitchen entrance is open for deliveries, and the Community Garden is accessible from the road that runs along the east side of the property.

ENTRANCE
The Olan Sanctuary entrance is the only entrance for all Temple activities, including ECEC, Judaic Treasures, Religious School, services, life cycle events, board and committee meetings, and meetings with clergy and administrative staff.

RECEPTION DESK
The reception desk that is currently at the entrance to the Levy Building has moved to the Olan Sanctuary foyer.

STAFF PACKING DAYS
Temple staff will be relocating offices into temporary quarters beginning after Simchat Torah. Temple offices will open at 1 PM on the remaining first Mondays of summer months—July 7 and August 4—to allow for packing of offices in anticipation of the move.

Budget Update

The Board of Trustees last month passed Temple’s 2014-15 operating budget of $9.7 million. The amount includes significant investments in learning, community, prayer and maintenance of our building. Highlights include:

- Establishing Religious School tuition at a 50-50 split between families and the congregation (families have traditionally paid a higher share)
- Expanded youth learning and engagement, including the start of the Religious School High School program
- Increased ECEC classes, teachers, enrichment programs and scholarships
- Merit pay increases for staff
- Facilities support during the upcoming construction
- Sh’ma Emanu-El small group support
- Additional cemetery maintenance
- Ongoing Adult Jewish Learning classes and lectures

“The budget process began in November and continued through May,” explains committee chair Edward Stone. “Careful consideration was given to each department’s programming and funding needs and to balance those requests with available financial resources. It was a detailed process that, in the end, yielded a budget for 2014-15 that is balanced between revenues and expenses.”

New P.O. Box

Temple has a new U.S. Post Office box to handle payments. Please discard any envelopes you may have at home with the old address.

The new address for all forms of payment is:

Temple Emanu-El
P.O. Box 205114
Dallas, TX 75320-5114

For any other types of correspondence that do not include payments, use the street address:

Hurrah for Sh’ma!

Sh’mah Emanu-El packed the house on May 7, as nearly 100 Temple members gathered to learn about where the project has come and next steps on the road ahead. Hosts, facilitators and participants spoke about their experiences and desire to continue making connections. In case you missed the May meeting, the conversation will continue with the same topics at 7pm on June 17, with opportunities for conversation and relationship building.

Here are some exciting next steps:

- This summer: Congregants will be asked for their interest in joining a Sh’mah Group. Training will be offered for leaders. Anyone can be a leader!
- This fall: Temple will facilitate events for leaders and members to form and activate Sh’mah Groups. Groups will be focused around but not limited to Shabbat, learning, neighborhoods, social justice and shared interests.
- What small groups look like: While the entire scope of the small group experience is still in the visioning stage by Sh’mah Emanu-El leadership, here are a few broad outlines. Groups will include eight to 10 members and meet regularly as determined by the group. Temple will provide ongoing support for leaders and groups, including materials.

“The most exciting part of all that has happened thus far with Sh’mah Emanu-El is that this is just the beginning. Thank you for being a part of this journey. We sincerely hope you can join us as we consider our future,” said Mike Sims, chair of Sh’mah Emanu-El.

Stepping Stones has a New Name

Stepping Stones to Jewish Knowledge is now called Introduction to Judaism! Beginning this fall, the class will morph into one 16-week course offered twice a year. The course has been reimagined by Rabbi Kimberly Herzog Cohen, teachers Renée Karp and Robin Kosberg, and the Outreach Committee. The new course curriculum will include previously offered topics such as “Our Homes, Families and Community” and “Our History, Literature and Faith,” in addition to basic Hebrew and a new team-taught approach. Robin and Renée will continue to teach, as will members of the Temple Emanu-El clergy. The next class starts August 26.

Observing Tishah B’Av

Our annual Tishah B’Av observance of study, prayer, silence and song will be held at 7:30 pm on Monday, August 4, in Linz Hall. Meaning “ninth of Av,” Tishah B’Av is a traditional day of mourning the destruction of both ancient Temples in Jerusalem. In Reform Judaism, it has become our practice to remember Jewish tragedies in our history and recommit ourselves and our community to Jewish life.

Sneak Preview
High Holy Days 2014

There are lots of new options for meaningful prayer and community at this year’s High Holy Days services. The redesigned annual booklet with all the details will be sent out to congregants’ homes in mid-July. Until then, here are some Frequently Asked Questions prepared by Executive Director Rick Rosenberg and the High Holy Days Committee:

We’ve seen the construction activity heating up at Temple. How will it affect High Holy Days?
The only parking lot available to Temple members during the High Holy Days is the south Olan Sanctuary parking lot. There will be far fewer parking spots than in a normal year, so members will need to use the remote parking lot at NorthPark Center along Park Lane. It is located on the north side of Macy’s.

We’ve got it. Not much parking at Temple. Can NorthPark handle us? Temple will have more shuttle buses this year since more members will need to park in the remote parking.

Will disabled parking change? No. The first two bays of the south Olan Sanctuary parking lot will be reserved for disabled parking.

Tell us about any changes for services this year.
There are three important changes involving our services for families with school-aged and teenage children.
The Service for Families with School-aged Children in grades 2-6 will be held at the Eisemann Center on Rosh Hashanah day. This will enable families in this age group to pray together.

On Yom Kippur day, there will be two services for Families with School-aged Children in Pollman Hall.
The Teen Experience on Yom Kippur day will be held at the JCC. Shuttle buses will leave from the NorthPark Center remote parking location between 12:15 pm and 12:45 pm for the JCC, and return to the NorthPark lot after services.

Temple has made great strides with online registration in recent months. Will there be an opportunity to register online for High Holy Days? Yes, members may sign-up online at the URL below or complete the printed seating request for High Holy Days admission. You may also opt in to receive the entire packet online next year: https://participate.tedallas.org/highholydays2014

Can I get a head start on memorializing my loved ones in the Nedavah book?
Every year, Temple prints a special memorial book of names of loved ones who have died. It is distributed prior to the Yizkor Memorial Service on Yom Kippur. Please submit your names by August 8 by filling out the form that will arrive with your summer mailing or online at https://participate.tedallas.org/highholydays2014.

What do I do if I am traveling and want to attend services in another city? There are three ways to make arrangements.
• Call Temple at 214.706.0000 and ask for Karen Howson, who will help you with your request.
• Send an email with a request that includes the name and address of the congregation and which holiday service you’d like to attend to: highholydays@tedallas.org
• Sign up online: https://participate.tedallas.org/highholydays2014

Will Temple be using a new machzor, or prayer book? Not this year! The CCAR is publishing a new machzor, Mishkan HaNefesh, in time for next year’s High Holy Days. There will be many opportunities to get familiar with it this year through excerpts for study and worship. Temple received a discount on the purchase of the two-volume set and will pass the discount on to our members. We encourage everyone to pre-order the sets at $28 for pickup at Temple, $35 for shipping direct to your home. Engraving is available at $15 per line, maximum two lines.

Weekday Prayer and Meditation

Temple’s new meditation group is meeting on Wednesdays from 7-8PM in Olan Sanctuary.
Contact: Ann Margolin, 214.696.4591, annmargolin@gmail.com

The daily minyan, held Sunday-Friday mornings at 8:15AM, has moved to Goldstrich Chapel during construction.
Mazel Tov! Thanks to the tireless efforts of a team of leaders who are passionate about Temple’s future and the nearly 400 donors who have already contributed, $26 million of the $32 million total has already been raised toward the Temple of our dreams. Construction fences have gone up, ground has been broken and we’ve all donned hardhats to build a secure future. Here is your guide to milestones and what you need to know to make your gift.
Every Gift Counts

What kind of gift will you make to Our Temple|Our Future? We talked with Mark Zilbermann and Sheryl Fields Bogen, campaign co-chairs, about how they approach congregants and the tricky business of asking for a substantial donation.

How do you go about asking people for money?

Mark: If you believe in what you are raising the money for, it’s not hard. It’s really just asking someone to participate in what you are doing, but giving of their resources rather than their time.

Sheryl: I share some of my history as a Temple member and ask questions to get to know the individual or couple I am meeting with. It is a natural progression to show the materials on our wonderful renovation and new spaces for Temple.

How do you help people figure out what to give?

Mark: We ask people to make Temple a philanthropic priority for the next few years, and ask them to stretch. A number of congregants have made the largest gifts they have ever made anywhere to the campaign. They love Temple, understand that this is a once-in-two-generations campaign, and want to do for our children and grandchildren what our parents and grandparents did for us.

How does the decision to give a significant gift affect donors?

Sheryl: I believe our donors feel a sense of satisfaction knowing their gift is truly making a difference. Our donors know they are helping to ensure the future of Temple for their children, grandchildren and even great-grandchildren.

How will these donations change Temple?

Sheryl: We will be able to move forward with having the best possible environment for worship, study, gathering, working together on acts of social justice, and so many more opportunities to connect with one another and our Judaism.

Why is it so important for everyone to participate?

Mark: We need widespread participation to reach our goal. But equally important, by participating, people become more invested. If all our congregants become even more invested, Temple can become an even better place to share with one another.

Temple pulled out all the stops for a three-day party with glorious weather, non-stop smiles and an exuberant dig in the dirt. Friday evening brought the congregation together to honor Rabbi David Stern for his 25 remarkable years of service. The celebration continued Saturday with more well-wishing and some old-fashioned roasting at a fundraising tribute dinner. And Sunday heralded a new era for Temple, as we broke ground on an expansion to build a new, 450-seat chapel, create a central gathering spot, add a new wing for the Early Childhood Education Center, fund youth and learning spaces and enhance the iconic Olan Sanctuary. Seven years ago, we began asking the question: What does Temple need for the future? Nearly seven weeks ago, we answered that question with song, a shovel full of dirt and a plea by Rabbi Stern: “Like any path on the way to a vision, this one will be messy. And so we ask God to bless this mess.”
Rabbis Stern and Kasten share the first dance.

Mark and Peggy Zilbermann, Judi Ratner, Malcolm and Beverly Bonnheim and Terry and Barry Greenberg shared fond remembrances of Rabbi Stern’s 25 years.

Weekend Warriors

The Our Temple | Our Future leadership team extends warmest thanks to the volunteers who devoted thousands of hours of love and labor to create the May 2-4 Weekend of Celebration honoring Rabbi David Stern and celebrating Temple’s future.
Memory and Redemption

(Continued from cover) Melodies of European origin, arranged for choir by Max Helfman (a famous Jewish musician of the first half of the 20th century) and Matthew Lazar (one of the leading Jewish choral conductors of our time). In each case, the choral textures were distinctive, imparting scope, depth and finesse to the interpretive expanse of the music. As I listened to our dedicated and artistically nuanced choir, singing under the capable direction of Ralph Stannard, I was impressed anew at how fortunate we are that Temple is able to provide such a rich cultural resource to our congregation and community. Only a choir such as ours can effectively convey the beauty of music like this, and only music like this can penetrate so many layers of the soul. It was as if the music, in counterpoint with the poignant readings, bore within itself the totality of the human experience being memorialized: sadness, defiance, hope, prayerfulness, nobility, transcendence and, ultimately, a profound love.

Even in the presence of imponderable loss, music is able to serve as both remembrance and redemption, imparting through its beauty a transcendent immortality to our forebears, while affirming the renewal of hope and possibility of which we ourselves are the living expression.

Our program began and ended with musical interpretations of this poem, scribbled in Hebrew on a cellar wall in Cologne, Germany, perhaps by a child, around 1943. Its anonymous author captured a compelling dimension of Jewish faith:

“I believe in the sun, even when it’s not shining; I believe in love, even when I don’t feel it. And I believe in God, even when God is silent.”

The concluding music was by Debra Scroggins, a prolific Dallas choral composer and a section leader in the Temple Choir. To the brief poem above she added these words from Psalm 27: “Wait for the Lord; be strong and take heart, all you who hope in the Lord.”

Through this collaboration among a local composer, an unknown poet of the Holocaust, an ancient Psalmist and members of the Temple Emanu-El Choir—witnessed by a community united of heart—music of memory and redemption lifted our spirits.

Annual Campaign Surpasses Goal

Temple is thrilled to announce that we have exceeded the 2013 Annual Campaign goal of $830,000 with a total of $867,700 raised to date—more than ever before in Temple’s history! We extend a hearty thank you to Campaign Chairs Beth & Jim Gold and co-chairs Leslie and Bob Krakow and Amy and Kevin Kerber, who have been a dynamic force to reshape the “Short & Sweet” Annual Campaign. Their leadership in creating this year’s model will serve our congregation for future successful campaigns. The “Short & Sweet” philosophy is a campaign that runs September through December, with the aim of reaching the goal amount in time to consider the amount in the annual budget cycle.

It’s never too early to start thinking about...
