The first serious Jewish question I asked as a teenager sprang from the Vidui, the prayers of confession we offer on Yom Kippur. One Yom Kippur afternoon in my father’s study between services, I asked him: “Why does the prayer book have us confess exactly the same sins every Yom Kippur? Judaism doesn’t seem to have a lot of confidence in our capacity to repent—if it did, the machzor wouldn’t assume we continue to make the same mistakes year after year.” I’m not sure if I was trying to be wise, or just a wise guy, but the question was real. If the whole process of repentance is about repairing our deeds, it seems defeatist to turn to the same confession on p. 82 this year as I did last year: "we betray, we steal, we scorn…"

But I had made two mistakes. First, I had overlooked the grammar: the subject of every verb in the litany of confession is “we,” not “I”: “For the sins we have sinned against you;” “of these wrongs we are guilty.” We Jews join in a communal confession, regardless of whether we ourselves are guilty of each and every individual sin enumerated, because we believe in communal responsibility. If I am part of a community that has exhibited greed, then I bear accountability for that greed. If I am part of a community in which some have exhibited arrogance, then I bear some responsibility for that arrogance.

I also think the communal voice provides some cover. Imagine if the rabbi stood before the congregation and said, “Ok, would everyone who has committed the next sin on the page please read along with me?” We would all be embarrassed into silence or shame, or the denial that would shield us from both. Instead, we offer the Vidui in the first-person plural — it is a confession, not a survey. When we all recite every line, then only our own hearts know which sins have truly been our own, and Judaism whispers to us that our own internal recognition may be enough to begin the path of return.

But even more important, my teenage self had fallen into the fallacy of the moral finish line. I believed that once you repent, you’re done. But the dynamic of sin and repentance defies tidy conclusions. When I recite those words on Yom Kippur, I do in fact confess sins I have committed, sins I have resolved not to repeat, sins I have sometimes even succeeded in not repeating, and then…I repeat them. Has there been a year in which I have not been impatient with people I love? Has there been a year in which I have not been judgmental of others without understanding their hearts? Has there been a year in which I have not failed to control my temper or my tongue, or failed to muster the courage to stand more strongly for what is right?

If the first answer to my teenage question was that we are a community, each responsible for the moral compass of this collective Jewish family, then the second answer was a simple “yes”—we return to the same litany because, too often, we repeat the same behaviors. But that does not mean that Judaism has lost faith in us. It just means that Judaism understands us—our failings and the incremental progress we can make by trying to do better the next time.

Ashamnu, bagadnu. Each time I touch my hand to my heart during the litany of confession, I remember: Our straying from the right path and returning to it again are a round, not a race. I affirm: Our frailties are stubborn, but our God-given ability to overcome them is the greatest measure of our humanity. I return to the familiar words, not in defeat, but in hope. I begin again.

Sh’m Emanu-El
Making BIG Feel SMALL

Taste of Sh’m
Tuesday, August 14
6pm, Linz Hall

Sh’m Emanu-El is one of Temple’s keys to creating more powerful relationships and lasting connections among members. Now in its fifth year, Sh’m has involved hundreds of congregants in small groups called Sh’m Groups. If you’ve heard about it but are not sure if it’s for you, then come to Taste of Sh’m.

You’ll learn how easy, fun and satisfying it is to be part of Sh’m, whether it’s in an organized group, a class or learning experience. It’s also a great way to stay connected at Temple through a curriculum that is shared widely, and to deepen friendships within one circle or many.

To register: participate.tedallas.org/taste-of-shma-aug-2018

New Member Meet-Up
You’re a new member, yay! Please join us for bagels and coffee, meet other new members and learn about the many ways to get connected at Temple, no matter what your passion. Our lay leaders are excited to get to know you and share their insights on social justice, learning, music, small group connections and more.

MAZEL TOV

To Richard Marcus on receiving the 2018 Stan Golden Men of Action Award from the Southwest Jewish Congress.
Now entering its sixth month, The Well is Temple’s monthly program for those with early stage Alzheimer’s or other dementias. Participants have a fun, activity-filled day with music, art, special visits by lovable service pets, interaction with ECEC children and Jewish holiday celebrations.

In addition to a rewarding day for guests, the program offers meaningful opportunities for trained volunteers and a rejuvenating break for caregivers.

“I love being a part of this very worthwhile Temple program and encourage others to come join us,’’ says Macki Ellenbogen, a volunteer. “Participants, volunteers and ECEC kids all leave smiling!’’

Under the leadership of lay chairs Linda Sheff and Ann Rosenzweig, the program has reached its initial goal of close to a dozen participants, and is poised for the next step. Temple hopes to be able to offer the program twice monthly beginning in October, with the successful recruitment and training of more volunteers.

If you’ve been searching for a meaningful way to give of your time and talent to Temple, look no further! Volunteer responsibilities include: greeting participants and escorting them to the Weiss Youth Wing at the beginning and end of the program; assisting with activities, serving lunch and generally acting as a buddy participant.

“When looking for volunteer opportunities I turned to Temple,’’ says Allen Feltman. “I wanted a hands-on activity and to interact with other members in a Jewish setting. The Well was mentioned to me, and since Dad suffered with Alzheimer’s, I was in. I can’t believe the fulfillment and joy I experience each month.’’

Shout Outs

We raised our voices (both inner and spoken) this spring and summer, in song, friendship, mindfulness of body and soul, the pursuit of justice and just plain fun.
From yoga to Kabbalah to boot camp with wine, Temple is starting out the fall with an exciting array of mindfulness and spirituality offerings. You may be a parent looking to provide grounding for your children in an uncertain world, a curious and questioning student, a Mussar practitioner or someone whose path to the Divine is through music. Let your journey take you to Temple Emanu-El this fall, and enjoy the transformation.

YOGA EMANU-EL

MINDFUL PARENTING
Six consecutive Thursdays, August 23-September 27
9:30-11 AM
Mindful Parenting, led by Rabbi Nancy Kasten, explores the basic tools of mindfulness that can bring you ease as you navigate the feelings and fears that are natural with being a parent. Unexplored, hope and fear can be experienced as anxiety or anger, often getting in the way of healthy relationships, and sabotaging our efforts to be the parent we want to be. Mindful Parenting helps us bring our attention to our feelings and the intentions lying beneath those feelings, using tools of Jewish text, breathing, movement and meditation. This course is open to parents and mindfulness practitioners of all ages and stages, including beginners.

Course requirements: This course is not designed as a drop in and participants are expected to commit to all six sessions.
No charge; childcare is available.

Register: participate.tedallas.org/mindfulparenting

YL+E OPENING DAY
Sunday, August 26
9:30 AM-12 PM
As the Sunday program opens for the 2018-2019 school year, bring the whole family for a High Holy Days workshop, with texts and tools to guide your family’s observance.

SOUL SCHOOL
MUSARR: CURRICULUM FOR A BETTER YOU
Mussar Information Session
Wednesday, August 29, 7 PM, Rooms 133-135
Mussar, an intense, rewarding Jewish study practice aimed at personal growth, has made a difference in the lives of hundreds of Temple members. Learn more about what’s involved—including journaling, attending a small-group session, or va’ad, and partner study. At an information session on August 29, facilitators will describe the available approaches so that you can make the right choice for you, whether you are new to Mussar or contemplating next steps. New groups are forming for daytime and evening a minimum of 6 people are needed to begin.

KABBALAH
Taught by Rabbi Sheldon Zimmerman
Four consecutive Thursdays, October 11-November 1
7-8:30 PM, Stern Chapel
In recent years, more and more Jews have turned to Kabbalah to learn new yet old ways of understanding God, the universe and our place in the unfolding foundational unity of all in the universe. Professor Daniel Matt provides us a beautiful introduction and overview of the Kabbalah in his book “The Essential Kabbalah: The Heart of Jewish Mysticism.” This will be the text for the course and is available online, on e-readers and in bookstores.

No fee, RSVP requested: participate.tedallas.org/kabbalahclass

SETTLING INTO SPIRITUALITY
As part of the evolution of Temple’s library and archives, a Beit Midrash area will be developed in the coming months. It will be a comfortable space with texts for the study of Torah and spirituality.

I am ever mindful of God’s presence
Adonai is at my right hand; I shall never be shaken.

לְאֵימַר ה’ לָעָלֶה יִשְׂרָאֵל וְלָעָלֶה יִשְׂרָאֵל בֵּית אַמֵּם אַמֶּם.

Sh’viti Adonai l’negdi tamid ki mimini bal-emot.

tedallas.org/totshabbat

A reimagined program for children in our community ages 0-3 and their parents, grandparents or caregivers.

Welcome! Together Time, formerly known as Cradle Roll, begins this month in a new, exciting format with expanded offerings for our youngest children and the adults who love to play with them. Your child does not have to be enrolled in the ECEC to participate.

Shabbat: 9-11AM, when ECEC is in session
Join our ECEC Shabbat in Stern Chapel, continuing with snack, playtime and programs. Free of charge.

Other classes include:
Challah, Yoga, Bim Bam Bunch, Making Sense, Pete the Cat Book Club. Fee required.

As we approach the Jewish new year, we have so many things to get excited about at Temple. We are so grateful for our wonderful community, our visionary clergy, dedicated staff and a 148-year history of making a difference in the world. Every year, we ramp up in Elul and get ready for the journey through this incredible season of t’shuvah—of turning—toward a new year and a new attitude.

Over the following pages, you will find the holidays and events from Elul through Simchat Torah:

| Elul | Welcome Shabbat | Selichot | Rosh Hashanah | Kever Avot | Yom Kippur | Sukkot | Simchat Torah |

Questions? Visit tedallas.org/highholydays; call the Temple main line at 214.706.0000 or email us at highholydays@tedallas.org.

WELCOME SHABBAT
FRIDAY, AUGUST 24
Meet and welcome our new and prospective members for this special annual event. Schmooze at the early oneg at 5:45 PM, followed by services at 6:15 PM, and a Ta’am 8500 dinner following. After dinner, head to the Tycher Gathering Space for a singalong with Cantors Vicky Glikin and Leslie Niren.

Dinner: $18 for adults; $10 for kids ages 5-12, free for kids under 5; maximum family rate $50.

HIGH HOLY DAYS HUNGER RELIEF DRIVE
Help us reach our goal of 38,000 pounds of food for the hungry. Collection bins will be available at Temple from mid-August through mid-October, and at NorthPark Center during shuttle times for the High Holy Days. The food drive is held in memory of Sally, Malcolm, Patricia and Ken Schiller.

Requested items are canned fruits, meats, vegetables and tuna, cereal, crackers, macaroni ‘n’ cheese, nonperishable noodles and beans.

In addition to donating food, consider volunteering at our partner agencies that help feed the hungry, including North Dallas Shared Ministries, Vickery Meadow Food Pantry and North Texas Food Bank.

SIMCHAT TORAH

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 6PM

This year's Simchat Torah celebration has been reimagined for a congregational, family-friendly celebration of Torah and Jewish learning. The evening will begin with a celebratory dinner and continue with an interactive tour through Torah. Meet your favorite biblical characters and see the Torah unrolled. Hear our post-B’nai Mitzvah students chant from their Torah portions and share in the joy of Consecration as we welcome our newest students to this stage of Jewish learning. The evening will culminate with a dance party in honor of Torah, complete with a live DJ and a Torah themed oneg. So dress casual, put on your dancing shoes, and join us for this rocking celebration.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 1, 10:30AM

Festival service with Yizkor, Stern Chapel

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 28
Shake It Up Sukkot, see below

NOAM KATZ
We welcome back this rabbi and dynamic performer, storyteller and composer. He’ll jam with early childhood students on Friday morning and before the start of the congregational Shake It Up Sukkot service. He’ll lead some of our favorite melodies at the service, followed by a post-dinner concert. Plus, a rockin’ YL+E Sunday Program concert!

Contact: Rachel Tucker, rtucker@tedallas.org

Music around EMANU-EL
2018-2019 Season

With gratitude to Friends of MAC for sponsorship of the Noam Katz visit.
It is customary to recite Psalm 27 daily from the beginning of Elul through Sukkot. There’s plenty to mull over in the psalm’s 14 verses. Consider the opening of the fourth verse, for example: “One thing I ask of Adonai, only that do I seek…” Only one?

“Imagine if you could ask one thing of Adonai; imagine if reality, life, all the powers and resources in existence could grant you one thing, and one thing only,” asks Rabbi Sheila Weinberg in an Elul podcast by the Institute for Jewish Spirituality. “Open your mind to the endless possibilities that could be incorporated into this singular ask. Would you ask for something? Some person? Health? Wealth? Power? Qualities of heart and mind? Intelligence? Courage? Patience? Honor?”

The verse goes on to explain the wish further: “to live in the house of Adonai all the days of my life, to gaze upon the beauty of God, and to frequent God’s temple.” It packs a lot of power in that one ask.

Consider this Jewish genie time. Let your wish out of the bottle, choose it carefully and carry it with you through the season. And along the way, dip an apple or two in a bit of honey. Because life and new beginnings should be sweet.
