Our Mission

At Temple Emanu-El, the creation of a vibrant community is both an enduring value and an ongoing endeavor. For us, community means a sense of warm welcome, meaningful relationships and mutual responsibility. We affirm a sense of both valued boundaries and a great respect for diversity. We celebrate our identity as a multigenerational community.

Excerpt, Core Values Statement, 2000

The personal stories on the following pages show how Temple Emanu-El was a source of connection, comfort and caring over the past year, as we navigated both the continuing pandemic and a safe, joyful and wise approach to in-person gathering. Our determination never wavered to be a house of learning, prayer and community from all our diverse starting places. We know that while many activities were held online, Temple Emanu-El has never been more spiritually near. Temple is always open — to the power of human connection, striving for change and healing in the world, and to relationship with the Divine. Through all the challenges of the past year, you, our Temple family, cheered and supported us every step of the way, hearts open to all that Temple Emanu-El is and can be. Your generosity helps to assure that Temple has the resources to provide the unwavering support for you and your loved ones, as it has for almost 150 years. May the coming year continue to bring us together, sharing the energy of smiles, hugs and hineinis that we receive from you each and every day.

A Message from Our Presidents

Greetings to you, our Temple family!

We are pleased to present this year's new Impact Report, formerly known as the Annual Report.

And what an impact Temple has on us all! We cannot underestimate the effect of this past year on us collectively and as individuals. We will work together as a community to restore our physical, emotional and social wellbeing, and to be together from wherever we are.

The pages ahead show how, over these many months, our Temple clergy, staff and lay leaders have creatively reinvented worship, learning, connection and community. This has helped to sustain and lift us in our time of need, and we are committed to staying the course in the months ahead.

Inside this packet, you will also find materials for our 2021-2022 Annual Fund, Creating Possibilities Together. For that is what YOU help us to do, day in and day out. Temple dues alone do not cover all the needs of our diverse congregation. Through your generous support, Temple continues to meet people where they are and find the most meaningful connection points for our Temple family.

A community of possibilities

Looking back over the past year of challenges and opportunities, I realize how grateful I am to be a part of this community of possibilities. As we entered 5781, our staff, clergy and lay leadership worked to reimagine Temple's processes, procedures and protocols. While much of Temple operations remained offsite, each person on the Temple team was committed to our core values and provided us opportunities for sacred encounters, meaningful learning and communal prayer.

While staying focused on the Jewish value of preserving life, Temple was there for us. Our leadership found safe ways for members to join for many events. Temple was there to celebrate the wedding couples, the b'nai mitzvah families, the pray-ers and learners of all ages. Temple provided assistance to those in need and comfort for those of us dealing with sickness or loss.

As you will see within the pages that follow, it was a challenging year financially. Temple did receive funding from the Small Business Administration's Payroll Protection Program, which along with Temple's Foundation and Annual Fund, helped us avoid a budget shortfall. The generosity of all who participated in our 2020-2021 Annual Fund was truly inspiring. Because of your support, and the tireless effort of our campaign volunteers, Temple broke all previous annual fundraising records and 1,064 member households participated.

In a year when many questioned if anything was possible, our Temple community showed us that by working creatively together, everything was possible.

A part of our lives

This past year, Temple has been very helpful to me. I lost my dad. Rabbi Kimberly Herzog Cohen is the rabbi I'm working with for conversion and she helped me quite a bit in navigating that time. When my dad passed away in April 2020, I quit my job and went for awhile to France, where I'm from, to get back on my feet. When I came back, I was looking for something to keep my mind off things. Temple was looking for volunteers for the Creating Your Sanctuary project. It was a great opportunity. I love being at Temple and it had been a long time. I signed up for shifts every day, morning and afternoon. I did all the different tasks, assembling the boxes and making deliveries as well. During this difficult time, it gave me a sense of purpose. I was able to be with my Temple family.

Clémence Dunn

We streamed Shabbat services every Friday night in 2020 once Thomas had passed away. That was really nice for us. Even with Covid, we still had a community to pray with, to say Kaddish with. Services are such a good way to connect. Even with Zoom fatigue, it was refreshing to unwind and relax. It was really special to have Temple there in our lives.

Growing for good

The Jill Stone Community Garden has changed in so many ways. The addition of the space in 2019, a gift of the Kleinman family, was huge. It has made such a difference and has allowed us to grow bigger than our dreams were in the very beginning. The poundage we're sending to the Vickery Meadow Food Pantry, the fact that we've brought in so many gardeners — all of that has been such a story of growth for us. In the pandemic, we've served hundreds of people. I always say working at the garden and the Vickery Meadow Food Pantry are gifts I give myself. I see people get the food, and how excited they are when they see something they recognize from their own country, like bitter melon and long beans — they often say, "can I have two?" I am grateful that I help to grow it, then I get to help distribute it and see the benefit. It has always been important to me, but never more so than this year.

Always Open

1 King Ahashverosh (a.k.a. Temple's senior rabbi) sat on a horse at the outdoor Purim carnival. This is Texas, after all.

Temple welcomed 7 new Jews by conversion. With the Dallas community mikvah closed, we got creative by using the ocean and a lake for the ritual immersion as part of the process of conversion.

While Covid-19 was at its peak, Temple stored an overflow of proteins, dairy and produce from the Vickery Meadow Food Pantry. Volunteers and facilities team members made over 50 trips to and from the pantry and Temple, transporting the groceries so that the food pantry could serve residents needing help.

With safety in mind, Temple installed more than 80 hand sanitizer dispensers and distributed 750 masks throughout the building.

Temple's Facilities & Hospitality team created 150 expanded parking spaces to accommodate physically distanced outdoor venues for the Temple Homecoming concerts, featuring Cantors Vicky Glikin and Leslie Niren and friends, in November 2020 and May 2021.

A total of 17 Temple staff and 36 volunteers made 887 calls to members identified as living alone or in need of additional support during the devastating February freeze.

Volunteers logged 1,008 hours assembling and distributing the Creating Your Sanctuary kits, and wrote 3,923 letters with Passover greetings to adults, teens and children.

The Jill Stone Community Garden at Temple Emanu-El grew and donated 6,469 pounds of fresh produce to the Vickery Meadow Food Pantry

Daily minyan: A space for healing

In December, we lost my 95-year-old mother, Sybil, who had been quarantined for over a year in an assisted living facility. Then, less than three months later, my younger sister died. The complications of organizing the return of my mother to her final resting place in Canada, and the long-distance funeral of my sister in Toronto were daunting and compounded my grief.

Where would my strength come from to deal with this double loss? To move from great sadness to feeling the blessings of their memories in my everyday life? I stumbled on morning minyan.

My late sister's family were attending their synagogues' minyan services and I decided to do likewise in solidarity with them, and to hopefully feel their presence more keenly in doing so. Minyan quickly became a source of comfort for me and provided a means to help me stay connected to my mother's and my sister Nancy's memory.

Minyan Zoom

This is a sacred community that offers support and prayer, a place to recite Kaddish and a way to start the day. Minyan has been going strong at Temple for over 50 years. Rabbi Gerald Klein of blessed memory, along with lay leaders, started the tradition and shortly thereafter it was, and continues to be, run by our lay leaders. With the onset of the pandemic, minyan pivoted from meeting in the Lefkowitz chapel to meeting on Zoom. Since then, the number of attendees has tripled. The service begins at 8:15AM and is over by 8:35AM. Often, folks show up a few minutes early to chat.

In the true spirit of Temple Emanu-El, newcomers are welcomed and when prayers for healing and yahrzeit are read, all are offered the opportunity to add the names of loved ones to the list. Susan Chazanow and Tricia Gold act as administrators, setting us up every day.

I hold a tremendous amount of gratitude for those who came to minyan after a loss and stayed to create this space for people like me.

Barbara Solomon

"This is a sacred community that offers support and prayer, a place to recite Kaddish and a way to start the day."

Barbara Solomon

Jane Saginaw

If I can give someone else comfort, then I want to do that. It is something that gives me purpose and allows me to perform a daily mitzvah. Maybe it is to thank God for allowing me to wake up every morning, for returning my neshama (soul) to me that left in the night.

Gil Friedlander, who attended his first minyan in 1985 after the death of his 10-year-old son. He returned in 2010 and often leads the service.

Richard Diamond

Morning minyan is part of my daily rhythm. What better way to start the day than with 20 minutes of prayer and reflection. It readies me for whatever the day might bring.

Jane Saginaw

Gil Friedlander

I have benefitted from the magical powers of Kaddish and minyan to bring comfort and healing. As we start emerging from Covid-19, I feel lucky to have had minyan as a bulwark.

Richard Diamond

Always Open

Lights, camera, action: Temple recorded more than 13 hours of High Holy Days services that members and guests could access from their home sanctuaries.

Young people led the congregation in prayer at 70 b'nai mitzvah ceremonies. All but two of the ceremonies were held in person with Zoom links provided.

Members of Women of Reform Judaism prepared 122 bags of individually wrapped sweets and challah for safe grab-and-go Friday night refreshments once Temple returned to in-person services.

On any given Shabbat over the past year, nearly 2,000 people accessed Temple Emanu-El services on Friday nights and Saturday mornings.

Blessings of fresh beginnings

One “aha” moment for me during the pandemic was that I found myself missing a small-group experience. I wanted it to be rich in Jewish exploration, and shared with women I did not know well, so that we could collaborate and form friendships from the ground up.

So we began a new Rosh Chodesh group to celebrate the new moon and new Hebrew months. We offer prayers for the beautiful new moon and all its fresh beginnings, and get to know each other in a way that encourages the sharing of our lives. And yes, we have some pretty great refreshments, too.

You might find one of us sharing a cherished object that reflects our Judaism or participating in a short meditation. You might notice us creating our own spice boxes for Havdalah, or even potting baby herbs in clay pots. When Temple began offering in-person services, we took great joy in tying yarn bows around the metal handrails to welcome our congregation back with affection.

We are 11 older, younger, single, married, and every description in between women. We are women who, when approached with the idea to gather monthly and engage in the Jewish ritual of Rosh Chodesh, said “yes!”

Social Justice and Advocacy

A win for Team Temple

Sarina Israel, a junior at Booker T. Washington High School for the Performing and Visual Arts, was one of four teens who worked with Larry Ginsburg, co-chair of Temple's Advocacy Committee, to advocate for criminal justice reform on behalf of Temple in the Texas Legislature. With Larry's help, the teens wrote a position paper which entered the official testimony of the Texas House Homeland Security & Public Safety Committee. SB 68 (prohibiting chokeholds) and SB 2212 (relating to the duty of a peace officer to request and render aid for an injured person) were passed by the Legislature and signed into law by Governor Greg Abbott.

Sarina: During the snowstorm in February, Rabbi Dan Utley called me and let me know a bunch of teens were doing advocacy work and asked if I'd be interested in joining. I thought 'sure, I have nothing else to do.' Then I started to really like it. We put together a whole paper explaining to the Temple Board of Trustees why they should be on board with supporting the George Floyd Act. It was kind of daunting at first, to be honest, but as we went through the process, I thought, 'wow, this is really cool.'

Larry: The Advocacy Team was supporting three issues — Medicaid expansion, voting rights and criminal justice reform. Dan reached out to the teens on the issue of criminal justice reform — Sarina, Ryan Kassanoff, Theo Rosen and Ava Slobin — and we put together a team that worked incredibly beautifully together. The position paper the teens developed entered into the record of the Committee. It's pretty cool, honestly.

Sarina: At first it was very confusing. But then I started understanding how our government works with these bills. It was interesting how one paper that people put together can go through the committee process, and then a bill can be signed into law. We hope we moved it along.

Larry: We used Google Docs and Zoom. I'd used lots of software but collaboratively working like this was something I'd never done before. Editing a document is second nature, but I had to slow down and make sure the teens understood the thought process in moving from here to there.

Sarina: We connected our position to Jewish values, what we learn at Temple and the values we hold in our tradition.

Larry: I had said on several occasions: How do we get the teens involved in advocacy once they come back from the Confirmation trip to lobby in Washington, D.C. Now our task is to continue and broaden their involvement.

Sarina: I'm on the Antiracism Task Force at Temple. The task force was teaching us about how racism is in our daily lives, microaggressions and how systems are set into place. I'm very passionate about it. I feel like it's very timely work with the social reckoning that's going on: we're saying, 'wait a minute, that's not right, let's fix it.' "

Larry: My contemporaries talk about their grandchildren. I got to experience how special these teens are. Not having kids myself, I got to experience it vicariously.

Sarina: I'm very thankful I got to work with Larry. I don't think this opportunity appears out of the blue very often. It's really special.

Always Open

Temple's Advocacy team held 7 meetings with Texas lawmakers and their offices during the legislative session.

More than 100 Temple members participated in civic engagement and get-out-the vote efforts.

During the summer 2020, Temple donated 2,500 items, collected from half our Temple membership, to Family Gateway, which works with families experiencing homelessness.

Voting bloc

Civic engagement at Temple is unique because we already have an engaged and motivated membership that votes. Temple Votes helps us feel like we are doing it together as a Jewish community. Just when we thought the 2020 presidential campaign couldn't get any more exciting and engaging, a pandemic hit! While it was challenging, this year's campaign turned out to be an inspiring story of how our Jewish community rallied together to become a trusted source of information and education that enabled our members to vote in a time of misinformation and confusion. Since Texas remains one of the hardest states in the country in which to vote, even without a pandemic, it was gratifying to find creative ways to both provide concrete information to help people vote in their preferred way and give people vehicles, like adopting a polling location, to help the wider community vote. We are proud of the work the volunteers did: Zoom town halls, personal and community outreach, and so much more. As Jews, voting is a sacred responsibility and our Temple community most definitely showed up for one another and the broader community. It fostered a deep sense of connection that felt very Jewish.

The new togetherness

I've been a member of Temple since 1987. The Psalms for a Pandemic class by Rabbi Debra Robbins was probably the most vulnerable, honest, intimate experience I have had with other Temple members and a rabbi. I found the Zoom experience to be very interpersonal. In an in-person class, everyone's face is focused on the rabbi. But in class, it was very intimate to see everyone's face straight on, looking back at you, and all of us being in the same position, together but connecting.

We'd come back together every week, and cry and laugh together. There was a little bit of safety about being a tiny bit more removed. This experience brought everyone on equal footing, whether they were in robust health or had a disability and had to stay at home. The technology turned out to be a bigger blessing than any of us imagined.

We were looking to the psalms for the times when we have felt the world was against us, yet we survived. All those Israelites survived these journeys. Going to back to our ancestry, it is clear that everything I have learned in the psalms applies to today. The whole class was about how can we live in uncertainty. We all have uncertainties in life: job loss, divorce, living with an illness. It was about how to find pieces of gratitude.

The power of truth

When the George Floyd incident happened, I was so outraged. I called Rabbi Kimberly Herzog Cohen and said: "What can we do to start this conversation where we can be more sensitive and understanding in our treatment of others?"

I learned that Temple was working on Facing Our Truths, a small-group curriculum, and I was asked to be a facilitator. I have to say at first that I was intimidated, but everyone was so helpful and we had plenty of resources to work with.

My group ended up being nine people. It was a very participatory, interested group. We were all the same demographic. We all experienced segregation growing up. We didn't get to mesh with other races and cultures. It wasn't like growing up today, where kids go to schools that are mixed racially.

There's so much that I learned from the curriculum and other facilitators. We were sent articles that enlightened us about the history of the Jim Crow era, and going back to the Civil War. We learned really good ways to frame conversations. I especially appreciated the documentary "13th" and everyone in our group was touched by it.

What I learned about myself, aside from learning about the history, was that I have a better understanding of the perspective of people of color. One comment from the readings was that we don't know what it's like to be walking down the street and worried about being judged just by our color. It was really eye-opening.

All of us got more impassioned and want to do more than just this one group. I've already asked, "what can we do next?"

Torah for all ages

I was raised in a Classical Reform temple in Louisiana. The only Hebrew prayers we learned were the Sh'ma and the blessings before and after reading the Torah. All hymns were in English and there were no tallit nor yarmulkes.

A few years ago, I was invited to a friend's adult bat mitzvah and her d'var Torah resonated with me. She had been raised as I was and wanted to feel more a part of Temple so she joined the bat mitzvah class. I did the same.

Our class was an eclectic group of students. Two were religious school teachers, two were Jews by choice, four of us were born Jewish but didn't feel educated in our religion. The other students had a knowledge of Hebrew. Throughout the sessions we got to know one another.

We all chose or were assigned b'nai mitzvah dates. Then Covid-19 hit. I chose to hold my bat mitzvah in Stern Chapel with 20 attendees. My grandson, Zachary Goldstein, presented his tallit to me and lent me the yad I had brought to him from the only synagogue in a small town in Italy. My daughter cried from the moment the service began until the shehechyanu! One of the most meaningful moments for me was when Rabbi Debra Robins and Cantor Vicky Glikin thanked me for letting them participate. I couldn't believe my ears. I felt so completely grateful to them for helping me along the way, as well as my tutor Roz Katz, who encouraged me each time we met.

My bat mitzvah made me realize how much more I want to learn about Judaism and I look forward to the opportunities ahead for my studies.

A place to grow

When we decided to move to Dallas, and didn't know too many people in the area, finding the right community was really important to us. Spencer's family was very connected to Temple Emanuel in Los Angeles. They had lifelong friends who were parents of our friends. We knew we wanted [2-year-old] Addison to be in Early Childhood Education Center. She is already flourishing so much at Camp Emanu-El, which has made our move and transition so much easier. During the middle of last year when we knew we'd be moving, we started attending virtual Tot Shabbats. We started to recognize familiar faces of the rabbis, families and other kids. We wanted to make an effort to attend every single one, so that people could recognize us too. We even met another parent at a Temple happy hour who recognized us from the virtual Tot Shabbats! Not only that, her kid is the same age as Addison and they live so close to us. This is exactly what we wanted in our Temple community. Temple Emanu-El has been so welcoming and we feel like we've been so wanted. That has validated our decision to join the community.

Israel

Memory and magic

Learning about and connecting with Israel has always been an important part of Temple's mission, and the variety of trip experiences offered, the quality of the guides, and the interpretation and context provided by clergy and staff make those travels especially meaningful. We had a wonderful experience on our first Temple trip to Israel with Rabbi Kimberly Herzog-Cohen and Cantor Leslie Niren; the combination of ancient and modern, of Judean desert and Tel Aviv beaches, of historical places and contemporary culture is truly amazing. One particularly powerful moment was saying Kaddish for Jon's dad at Yad Vashem, after viewing the exhibits including a photograph of American GIs just after the liberation of Buchenwald. We knew Jon's dad was somewhere in that photo.

We were very disappointed that Cantor Niren's Food, Arts and Culture trip was postponed last year because of Covid, and we are definitely looking forward to being on that trip next June for a new and different perspective on life in Israel today.

Temple is resuming Israel travel with 2 trips this coming June. Watch for details.

Let's hear it for the blue and white. 198 Israeli flags are flying high in the Family Engagement Space. Originally decorated for Israeli Independence Day, they feel at home there and still wave proudly.

YL+E students traveled 6,970 virtual miles to tour Israel with Temple friend and beloved tour guide Muki Yankelowitz on Israel Day. Muki also "came back" to Temple in January for adult learning in the For the Love of Israel series.

Drive-through Purim Carnival

The Future

This past year has been a building-block year for Temple to ensure its vibrant future. In 2022, Temple will mark the 150th year since the founding of the Dallas Hebrew Benevolent Society, the first Jewish organization in Dallas and the forerunner to our beloved congregation. Our community, as the recipients of an extraordinary legacy of faith, social justice, learning and Jewish peoplehood, continues to plan for the future, just as the 11 Dallas men did on July 1, 1872.

The Temple Emanu-El Foundation turned 20, with assets of $33.7 million as of June 30, 2021.

An endowment fund contains contributions that are set aside and invested (usually in stocks and bonds). The donor's original gift, the corpus, grows over time as a result of the appreciation of the assets and income earned. Each year a certain percentage of the dollars earned on the corpus is paid out to support Temple's operating budget. This year's endowment distribution to Temple was just over $1.47 million.

On the following page, you'll hear from our Foundation presidents.

The leadership team for Temple's 150th anniversary, which we are calling TE150 for short, has created the infrastructure for a year of celebration and an endowment campaign.

Temple's sesquicentennial celebration will launch at High Holy Days 2022. The milestone will be marked by the concurrent projects of:

- An endowment campaign to secure Temple's future for our children and grandchildren, just as our ancestors did for us.
- A fabulous year of celebration with a focus on community, social justice and fun.

Leadership

- TE150 Co-Chairs: Suzi Greenman and Scott McCartney (remarks on P. 34)
- Co-Chairs, Endowment: Julie and David Fields, Betsy and Mark Kleinman
- Co-Chairs, Celebration: Leslie and Bob Krakow, Nina Cortell and Robert Fine

A letter from the Foundation Presidents

In 2020, the Temple Emanu-El Foundation celebrated its 20th anniversary, and hailed the visionary leaders who created the Foundation to provide stability and support for Temple and its cemetery for generations to come. The Foundation strives to assure that our children and grandchildren have the opportunity and same firm commitment to Judaism and its ethical values as our ancestors did before us. Our obligation is to leave tomorrow's legacy strong.

The Foundation's board of directors and advisors are focused on managing its endowment assets for long-term growth, while supporting quarterly distributions to Temple and the cemetery. When it commenced operations, the Foundation held $3.85 million in assets, which has grown to $33.7 million as of June 30, 2021, with contributions from congregants and retained investment earnings. During the 2020-2021 fiscal year, the Foundation distributed $1.47 million to Temple and its cemetery; and since beginning operation, has distributed more than $14 million to Temple and its cemetery.

In 2018, the Foundation began considering one-off grant-making opportunities directed at defined Temple and cemetery initiatives that meet the Foundation's mission. In April 2020, a Foundation grant of $180,000 focused on Development Department projects, while a grant of $93,000 in April 2021 was earmarked to support initiatives at Temple's cemetery. Since 2018, the Foundation has authorized $390,000 in grants in support of Temple and its cemetery.

During the past fiscal year, the Foundation received several bequests that were added to its invested assets. The Foundation is looking forward to added emphasis on planned giving by the Endowment Campaign, the goal of which is to grow the Foundation's investable assets and increase Foundation support of Temple and its cemetery.

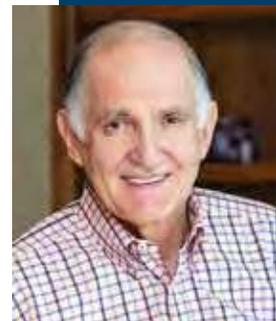

Our first 20 years have seen the Foundation grow in its strength and commitment to Temple and the Jewish people. We are confident that the Foundation is on a path to sustain the future of Temple and its cemetery.

A message from TE150 leadership

Temple Emanu-El will begin celebrating a significant milestone next year: the 150th anniversary of the founding of our congregation. This sesquicentennial is an important moment for the history of Jews in Texas, for the city of Dallas, for our ancestors and for our children. We will mark this achievement with festivities, learning, worship, and social justice initiatives that will set the course for Temple for the next 150 years. And your participation is not only invited, but critically important to our success.

We will kick off our celebration in 2022 after the High Holy Days with events that honor our past — from major speakers to roll-up-your-sleeve projects. The celebration will continue for 15 months, shifting focus to present-day Temple and critical needs in our community we can address, as we always have in the past. Then we will move to several months of focus on our future.

Concurrently, we will be ensuring our future with the most significant fundraising campaign we have ever undertaken. Our goal is to increase the size of the Temple Emanu-El Foundation so that our congregation will forever be financially sound. As prior generations did for us, we must now ensure the Jewish future for our children, our grandchildren and their grandchildren. We are also committed to helping make Temple more affordable today for all congregants, from young Jewish families to senior members living on fixed incomes.

We are honored to be co-chairing the sesquicentennial and delighted to be working with a very strong team of volunteer leaders as well as Temple clergy and staff. Leslie and Bob Krakow and Nina Cortell and Bob Fine are co-chairing the celebration; Julie and David Fields and Betsy and Mark Kleinman are co-chairing the endowment campaign.

When a group of Jewish settlers gathered in a hardscrabble town 150 years ago to form a burial society, they could not have envisioned the strong, vibrant community that we are today, nor a city like Dallas where Temple Emanu-El has had an impact over those 150 years. Our history has been one that always builds on the past. Our sesquicentennial will launch us into an exciting future.

We look forward to celebrating with you all.

Elizabeth and Josh Asen with Lily, who wore the same dress that Elizabeth did at her baby naming with Rabbi Gerald Klein of blessed memory

L’Dor vador

How do we celebrate the birth of our child amidst a global pandemic? Like always, Temple was there to help us tackle even the most difficult of questions. When our daughter Lily was born last July, we were determined to commemorate her entrance into the world. We spoke to Rabbi Debra Robbins, and she immediately put us at ease.

Even though our family and friends could not all be together in person like we had hoped, we still commemorated Lily’s birth in a special and intimate way. Last November, four generations of our family gathered with masks to celebrate her baby naming. We felt so blessed.

Despite the global pandemic we all faced, Temple and Rabbi Robbins helped us continue a sacred tradition and create a treasured memory for our family.

If these walls could speak

We've given to Temple throughout the years while living here in Dallas. I've always been an artist, although my livelihood has been in the commercial real estate business. When they did the redo of the Temple [2014-2016], the art committee picked a piece I had done. It is hanging in the hallway behind the reception area. I thought it made sense to have another one at the other end of the hall. The first one is a monoprint, paint with ink on plexiglass. The other one is a linocut print. I carved three one-foot squares into a piece of linoleum to make a sort of panorama. I call it my Backyard Series. They feel at home to me. The first one was lonely there by itself. With the long hallway between them now, they communicate.

Always Open

The art collection at Temple continues to enrich Temple life. The reframing of 12 original lithographs by Reuven Rubin was generously underwritten by Bobby Lyle in honor of his wife Lotty's adult bat mitzvah (see p. 21).

They did It! 16 couples said "I do" in intimate weddings, performed by Temple clergy following guidelines for safe and beautiful ceremonies.

Temple clergy named and blessed 35 babies in in-person ceremonies with limited attendance, in backyards and on Zoom.

Temple surpassed its Annual Fund goal of $1,500,000, with contributions from 1,064 households.

What are endowment funds and why are they important at Temple Emanu-El?

Endowment funds create a permanent source of financial support for the mission of Temple Emanu-El. Establishing an endowed fund, or contributing to an existing fund, presents a unique opportunity to address the donor's interests and Temple's highest priorities. These funds can be created through current gifts of cash or securities as well as through estates and other deferred gift instruments. Endowed funds provide recognition opportunities by naming the fund in honor of family and friends or others who have been meaningful in the donor's life.

Our Temple | Our Future

We are forever grateful to Our Temple | Our Future donors for helping make Temple so full of possibilities.

Bea Goldman Covenant Society

The Bea Goldman Covenant Society was founded in 2001 to recognize those who provide for the future of Temple Emanu-El in their estate plans. The society has been named to honor the memory of Bea Goldman, who was devoted to Temple in her lifetime and directed that virtually all of her estate benefit Temple.

We acknowledge with gratitude the members of the Bea Goldman Covenant Society, listed below, who have notified Temple of their planned gifts or have generously designated Temple as a beneficiary of their wills.

If you have left a gift to Temple in your will or other estate plans, but are not listed as a member of the Bea Goldman Covenant Society, we encourage you to notify Temple's Development Office so that we may recognize your generosity by including your name.
