Our Mission

At Temple Emanu-El, the creation of a vibrant community is both an enduring value and an ongoing endeavor. For us, community means a sense of warm welcome, meaningful relationships and mutual responsibility. We affirm a sense of both valued boundaries and a great respect for diversity. We celebrate our identity as a multigenerational community.

From strength to strength, from joy to joy, from hug to hug — Temple these past 12 months has continued to be our home of the spirit and our source of deep connections to one another and to Judaism. As the stories and lists and numbers on the following pages show, Temple thrives on the energy and love of our members. Your generosity helps Temple reach new heights of unwavering support for you and your loved ones, as it has for 150 years. Together we embark on our official sesquicentennial celebration, TE150, later this fall. We know that our cherished past will continue to nurture and guide us as we journey together into a bold new future of promise and possibility.

A Message from Our President

With Gratitude to Our Temple Community

From our youngest members still bundled in their parents' arms to our most senior members with more than 100 years of wisdom to draw upon, and everyone in between, Temple Emanu-El is here for you. The myriad opportunities we offer, each consistent with our core values of community, prayer and spirituality, learning, social justice and Israel, are possible because of you, our donors.

While this was another year of new challenges, it was also a year filled with accomplishments and joy, and excitement for the year ahead. Temple's community, led by our outstanding clergy, staff, and lay leaders, experienced new and enhanced opportunities to come together both in person and online, to learn together, to engage in personal and spiritual growth, to help repair our world, to share in life-cycle events, and to travel to Israel. Your generosity made a significant impact this year and it is deeply appreciated.

We hope you will enjoy the pages ahead that savor the moments of the 2021-2022 year.

Thank you, to each of you, and may Temple continue to be the beacon of hope and of light that it has been for 150 years.

Jewish Journey, Together: Daisy Castro and Joanna Bernal

Daisy Castro and Joanna Bernal converted at Temple together during the pandemic, and found a sense of home online and eventually at in-person services. They also felt welcome and included as new Jews and as an LGBTQ couple. In their own words:

Daisy

Shabbat brought meaning and order to the weeks that seemed to have no beginning or end. After three months, I made up my mind to formalize my Jewish identity. With a click of an email, my journey continued and brought me to Temple Emanu-El. I spent the next 18 months learning Jewish history and beliefs, and what it meant to fully embrace being Jewish.

Because of Covid, most of my conversion journey was completed digitally...I was all in and waited patiently until the day came that I could be part of the Jewish community at Temple. And soon the day came. I cried the first day I stepped in the synagogue and recited the Sh'ma prayer. I felt at peace hearing the shofar at the end of Yom Kippur. Today I feel at home at Temple Emanu-El.

Joanna

One day we were hit with a pandemic and the world shut down. Life paused and I found time for the important things and learned to appreciate everything I had. I had time for family, friends, my health, the study of Torah. I attended virtual Talmud studies. We found Temple Emanu-El's services online and started attending every week. Shabbat served as a great divide to the mundane. The candles lit the darkness at the end of every week.

Then, Daisy reached out to Temple to sign up for conversion classes. I decided to tag along, and I'm glad I did.

Digging In: Rachel Pokorney

Rachel Pokorney, her husband Joseph and son Cohen joined Temple within the past year. It didn't take Rachel long to become involved. With her heart and energy for service, and with mentoring from longtime volunteer Sally Rosenberg, Rachel is transitioning into the role of chair of the Service Projects Committee.

Welcome! Tell us about your involvement at Temple.

One of my first activities was at Vickery Meadow. My husband, son, and I attended the revamping of the garden at the school. We also try to participate in various drives Temple sponsors. Cohen attends the Early Childhood Education Center and brought canned food last fall for the hunger relief drive. I recently helped with the school supply drive.

What kind of impact has it had on your connection to Temple?

Becoming more involved in the volunteer aspect of Temple has really enabled me to connect with people I might not have otherwise met.

And on your parenting life?

One of my priorities as a parent is modeling for my 3-year-old the importance of helping and taking care of others. I not only want him to be engaging in these types of activities, but I also want him to see me doing it. It can be easy to get caught up in the day-to-day of family, parenting, work, etc., but being in this role challenges me and holds me accountable to the values I have and want to instill in my family.

How has Temple made a difference in your life this year?

Having my son in ECEC and joining Temple has really helped my family have a sense of community that we would not otherwise have. Everyone has been so welcoming and loving, especially in helping me find opportunities to connect. Even though it's such a large campus, people have found a way to help me find my niche.

Special Gifts: Ronen Rosenberg

Ronen Rosenberg, age 10, is a regular at Friday night services and absolutely loves Sunday mornings with Youth Learning + Engagement.

“He feels at home and he feels part of a community. For a boy with special needs, that’s the biggest gift you could give any family. To me that sense of belonging is hard to find outside of the special needs world,” says dad Barry Rosenberg.

When they drive by Temple, Ronen gleefully says “Daddy, Daddy, Shabbat!” even if it’s a Tuesday.

The silver lining of increased security? “He seems to know every one of the security guards and fist bumps them.”

Showing Rabbi Debra Robbins how much he loves her sermon by waving excitedly from the balcony of Stern Chapel? “She just stopped her sermon and said, ‘Hi Ronen.’” To anyone who was flustered or annoyed by the commotion, “she said that this is what Temple’s about.”

The hospitality staff who saves extra ketchup for their favorite fan. The time Ronen shared Shabbat challah — and a hug — with Jack Repp, of blessed memory.

“People accept that he may sit on the floor or get in your personal space, scream at odd times, and they’re saying, we want you here,” says Barry.

Ronen is a fourth grader at YL+E. “When Ronen was younger we got a phone call from Temple asking why he wasn’t signed up for religious school,” says Barry. “I said I would love nothing more in the world than that, but didn’t think they’d be able to accommodate him. They said, ‘absolutely we can.’”

“The overarching message is that everyone wants to tell you they’re open and welcoming, but there are very few organizations that take the steps of providing an aide in the classroom, having rabbis that support the things that happen spontaneously with people with special needs. Temple’s saying: ‘We want to make this work.’”

Prayer and Spirituality

Wrapped in Love and Legacy: Dylan Barnes

The tallit Dylan Barnes wore at his bar mitzvah connected him to his Jewish heritage in a tangible and unique way. It belonged to his great-great grandfather, Mordechai Levenson, who was born in Lithuania in 1895. He was an Orthodox Jew who fled poverty and pogroms when he was 17. One of a few items brought on his family's journey was his tallit. Mordechai eventually settled in La Mesa, New Mexico, and fell in love with Sadie Atkin, a Reform Jew of El Paso. He was known as Max from then on. While all of this might seem ancient history to a boy born in Dallas in 2009, it was made current and real by his charismatic 98-year-old great-grandmother, Norma Levenson (pictured right), who presented Max's well-loved tallit to Dylan. When preparing for his bar mitzvah, we would joke, "Channel your inner Mordechai, Dylan!"

-Lori Golden, Dylan's mom

A High Note: Sue Lichten

At the always-young age of 99, one of Sue Lichten's fondest memories is her time in the Temple Emanu-El Adult Choir. She joined the choir in 1955 and has savored every minute of 67 years of singing under nine different directors.

"I have loved being able to learn and sing new Jewish music throughout the years, while being surrounded by community. I have amazing memories of trips and special outings, both locally and around the country and the world."

Social Justice and Advocacy

From 'Not Again' to Action: Jeana Foxman

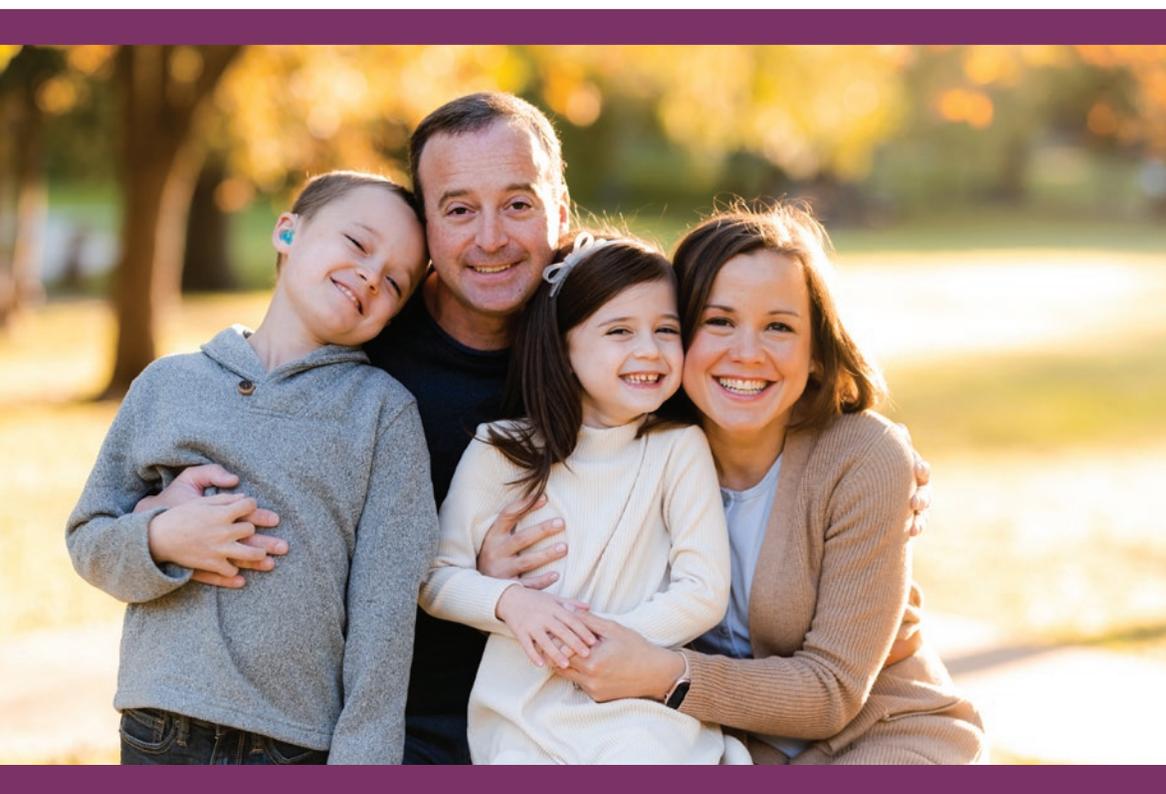

Jeana Foxman puts her never-ending Temple energy toward gun violence prevention. She is a deeply engaged Temple member, wife of Brad and mom of Ari and Adele. In her words...

After the horrific events of Robb Elementary in Uvalde, my frustration with the lack of progress in adequately protecting our children in their sacred spaces became too much to continue to sit on the sidelines. Temple, together with the Religion Action Center of Texas, already had meaningful conversations with Senator John Cornyn's office last summer while advocating for voting rights, and after learning Senator Cornyn was a leader for the bipartisan gun safety bill, I knew this was a natural way at a pivotal time for us to use and expand upon those connections to advocate for gun violence prevention.

Propelled by our Jewish values, Temple congregants and clergy, along with other Reform Jews across Texas, made our case to Senator Cornyn for sensible gun reforms.

The Talmud teaches us that "He who takes one life, it is as though he has destroyed the universe, and he who saves one life, it is as though he has saved the universe" (Mishnah Sanhedrin 4:5). Thankfully, the Bipartisan Safer Communities Act is now law and we celebrate the passing of this historic legislation, but still, we know there is still much more work to be done.

For me personally, as my life gets more and more chaotic, whether it's from everyday stresses of work and parenthood, to the increasingly volatile social and political landscape, Temple is my spiritual sanctuary; a place of peace, hope and action. I find that with whatever I'm doing — work, parenting, advocacy, etc. — if I'm doing it with other Jews or through a Jewish lens, my personal fulfillment from the experience is tenfold. The experiences I have as a Jew and a member of Temple continually help me feel connected to my community, my religion and the greater world — the world as it is and the one I hope it will become.

Toward Inclusion: Jordan Palefsky

As an elementary school assistant librarian and an advocate for diversity, equity and inclusion at my school, I was so excited to attend Temple's "Belonging" film series and experience that intimate connection with the members in the audience after each movie. I deeply appreciated the movies that were chosen because each film produced a special message that brought the congregation together despite how sensitive and powerful the topics were. After the second movie, "Life Animated," the Inclusion Committee spoke to us, and their words resonated with me so much so that I decided to join the committee and make a difference in the Jewish community.

Planting Forward: Mindy Kobrin

It's hard to tell what came first: Mindy Kobrin finding Temple Emanu-El or Temple finding Mindy Kobrin.

Mindy moved to Dallas in February of 2019 and began to connect with college friends who all belonged to another synagogue. Her son, Jacob, 7, attended Lamplighter, and through the mom connection, met two of Temple's lay leaders involved in an exciting social justice project.

With a career that has included policy work, entertaining through healthier eating and encouraging better food access to all socio-economic groups, Mindy was ready and willing to work with Julie Weinberg and Margaret Hirsch on a TE150 gardening project for Dallas schools. (Stay tuned! You'll hear more about it in the months to come!)

"Roots started to grow," she says. "I felt so deeply grateful for the welcoming arms. They asked incredibly important questions. The vision here, I've learned, is a strong commitment to service, to inclusion, regardless of your skin color and family dynamic.

"I'm a single mom; there wasn't even a doubt about my family feeling loved and respected by Temple's leaders and members."

Social justice is a family affair. Jacob (pictured holding his mom's hand as she teaches) has been involved in many service projects since he was a toddler and continues with his mom in supporting Hunger Busters, a Dallas-based organization that works to provide a third meal of the day to food-insecure children.

"Temple Emanu-El is so vested in keeping Dallas moving forward. It doesn't matter if you're Jewish or not, you give back and help make a community better. I feel Temple Emanu-El just knocks that out of the park. We are both so fortunate and ever so grateful to be invested in Temple's core values and we are excited for the future."

Learning

Always a Teacher: Rozelle Gilman

Rozelle Gilman recently retired from teaching third grade Judaica at Temple after 34 years, and before that 15 years at Temple Shalom! She shares her reflections on nearly five decades of learning, change and growth.

Most exciting change

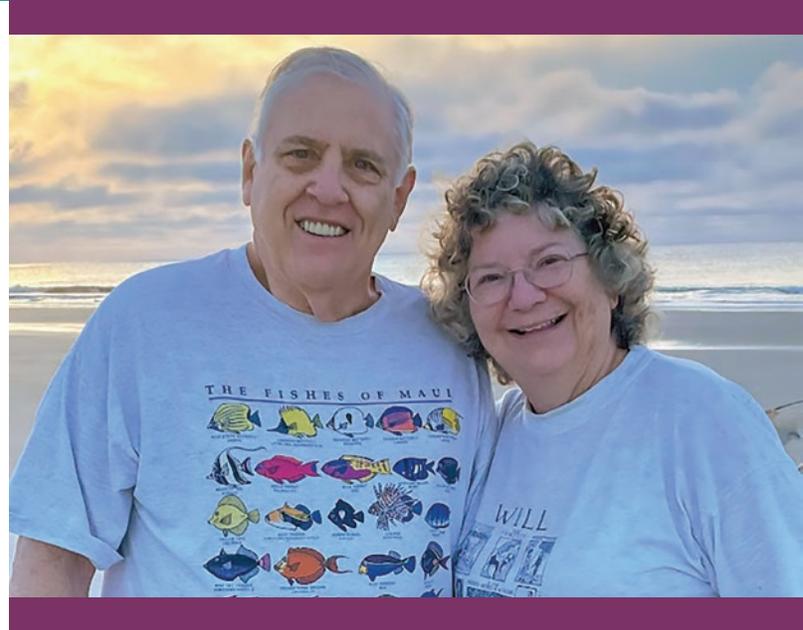

Beyond a doubt, the most exciting change I have seen over the years is the involvement of families in their children's religious education. Those are the memory makers and the way concepts become integrated into the lives of young people. I love seeing parents and children learning together.

Favorite Youth Learning + Engagement Memory

Our third-grade bake sales were a time of great pride for the students. This past year, we sent $1,364 to American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee: Emergency in Ukraine and UNICEF Humanitarian Aid for Ukraine. The bake sales were an excellent opportunity for the children to take part in the work of tikkun olam.

Secret to a Long Career

I loved seeing the spark when the students "get it." I especially enjoyed that I had the opportunity to be creative in the lessons that I taught. I could use my skills in creative dramatics to teach the concepts in the curriculum. I also loved the camaraderie we had as a team of third-grade teachers. I always felt like my ideas and concerns were respected.

Connection to Temple

Temple Emanu-El is a large place. It is important to find your community. Teaching was my community. Although it was time for me to retire and spend more weekend time with my grandchildren, I will miss being part of that group. It was also fun having my husband Richard subbing in YL+E classes on Sunday mornings. It was something we were doing together — a shared time.

Second Wind at Temple

Since retiring from teaching, I am just beginning to find my niche with volunteering at Temple. I wrote two plays that will be filmed for the High Holy Days. I will also be helping with the Book of Remembrance for Yom Kippur. After that, I plan to continue to look for ways to use my skills to contribute and be involved in Temple activities.

Hearts for Learning: The McKowen-Offit Family

The family of Anna Offit, Kelly McKowen and Edmund and Oscar McKowen-Offit, pictured below, became Temple members in 2019, and quickly found a community in the Early Childhood Education Center. Anna shares her story:

We can't say enough about what Temple Emanu-El has meant to us during the past year. We moved to Dallas in 2019, and we were just starting to build our lives here when the pandemic began. So much changed, but Temple — and especially ECEC — was a constant. We are so grateful to the teachers and staff who have welcomed our family and helped us find a wonderful community.

Our son Edmund absolutely adores the library and is always so excited to show us the books he checks out. As academics, we believe that libraries are the heart of our education system: They create a setting for independent and collaborative learning, for cultivating curiosity and a love of discovery, for making knowledge freely available. We are so proud to be ECEC parents and thrilled that our gift will support a space that we know will bring joy and enrichment to Temple families for years to come.

Part of the Family: The Rosenthals

"This is our first year with the Early Childhood Education Center, and we already feel like part of the family and closer to our Temple Emanu-El community. Every week, ECEC Shabbat gives us an opportunity to take a few moments to sing and dance with family to welcome in the Sabbath."

—Caitlin Rosenthal, mother of Lilah Rosenthal

Charmed, a Third Time: Harold Kolni

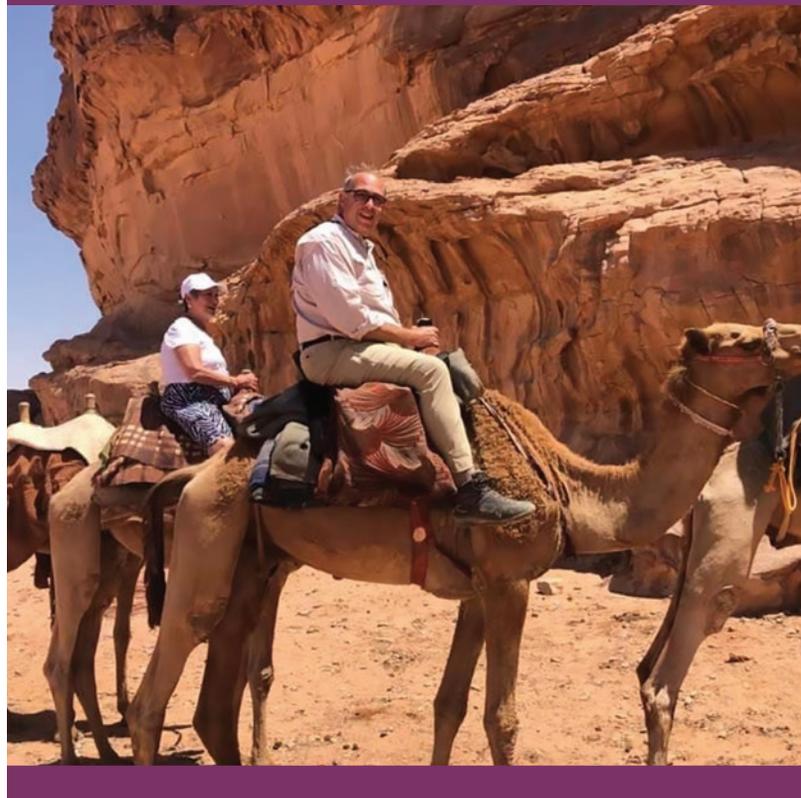

This past summer, I made my third trip to Israel. These trips spanned 25 years and each trip has been unique. If someone asked me, “why go back?” the answer remains, “there is no place like Israel anywhere on earth.”

I was a participant in Temple’s Food, Art and Culture tour led by Cantor Leslie Niren and Executive Director Meredith Fried.

One of the highlights of my visit included the importance in teaching children. Each of the many museums we visited has content aimed at children of every age, including the young at heart. Playgrounds pop up in every neighborhood. Families have options on the types of schools their children attend.

Other standouts: The development of artistic expression is amazing in Israel. From street art to mainstream pieces, art is everywhere. The explosion of cuisines and venues to eat in have also expanded. The geographical diversity of Israel is worth exploring. The land boasts seas, beaches, lakes, forests, deserts, and hills plus unique features such as the Ramon crater and the Dead Sea. Ancient buildings exist next to distinctive architecture and modern construction.

Finally, Israel feels like going home. I found it well expressed in the ANU (us) museum in Tel Aviv. It looks at the many ways Jews express their identity, their history and the lands and cultures we come from. I left Israel with a sense of pride in being part of the Jewish experience.

Seeing Israel Anew: Rhoni and Zoe Golden

Rhoni

Although this was not my first time in Israel, it has been 35 years since my last visit. For me, it almost felt like the first time! The piece that made this trip so meaningful was the incredible education that we received each day. The information that was shared at each site was woven so beautifully together by our expert tour guide and our expert rabbinical spiritual guides. Each day felt like a chance to meld history with spirituality in a way that carried great meaning for me and my husband. We are forever changed by this experience and can't wait to travel with Temple again!

Zoe

I've never really considered myself religious. I've always believed that I was Jewish in the sense of believing and following Jewish values, but I've been agnostic ever since I can remember. When I was in Israel however, I felt this spiritual connection that is hard to put into words. I felt this sense of peace and happiness. Even though this was my first time in Israel, I already knew that I needed to come back. I'm going to college this year, but I hope to do a semester in Israel sometime over the next four years.

The Future

Thank You TE150 Leaders and Volunteers

It's 150 years (and one long pandemic) in the making, but Temple's sesquicentennial is finally here. The 2021-2022 year was filled with months of imagining, planning, collaborating and preparing for the TE150 celebration that will launch during the High Holy Days this September. We are incredibly grateful to our TE150 Committees led by Nina Cortell and Bob Fine, Julie and David Fields, Betsy and Mark Kleinman, and Leslie and Bob Krakow and their volunteer teams, listed on the following page.

As we enter the 150th year, we hope that you will find new ways to become involved at Temple. Whether it is leading or serving on a committee, participating in a program, activity, or event, or helping to secure Temple's financial future through a gift of endowment, we believe there is something for everyone!

Our TE150 celebration will start with a congregational Sukkot Shabbat service and dinner on October 14 as part of our Harvest events. The additional Harvest events are scheduled through Nov. 6 and include cooking demonstrations, discussions on food insecurity and social justice work to expand our impact in Dallas through community gardens.

In the spring, we will celebrate Creations events focusing on art and the spiritual power of music with some breathtaking new works and performances. Our campus will come to life on a monumental scale with Light Years, a not-to-be-missed arts and technology experience; and our cantors will lead special celebrations of Temple's place in Jewish music.

In the fall of 2023, our Rededication events will provide an in-depth look at the future of synagogue life and what the next 50 years might require of Temple and the Dallas Jewish community. As our 150th birthday party draws to a close, we will propel ourselves into the future with a symposium featuring many of Reform Judaism's influential leaders and other exciting events.

Even more importantly, the milestone year includes a $45 million endowment campaign to give Temple the financial strength to take on the uncertain future and keep participation affordable for Jewish families for generations to come. The campaign is progressing well. Stay tuned — you'll hear a lot more soon.

It has been our honor to work with a diverse group of congregants, along with staff and clergy, on this important benchmark for Temple Emanu-El. Temple will never be the same again, thanks to the incredible support and participation of you, our members.

We invite you to take full advantage of all that TE150 has to offer. If you have questions about getting involved, please reach out to either of us or contact Alexandra Horn at ahorn@tedallas.org or Rabbi Amy Rossel at arossel@tedallas.org. Your participation will make Temple stronger and help set the course for the next 150 years.

TE150: Ensuring the Future

As the messages from Suzi Greenman, Scott McCartney and Larry Ginsburg on these pages reveal, a strong endowment helps Temple continue its remarkable legacy of faith, social justice, learning and Jewish peoplehood. Dedicated groups of volunteers have been hard at work raising the funds to help secure Temple's future, so that the generations ahead will be as excited about Temple's bicentennial celebration as we are about its sesquicentennial year.

An endowment fund contains contributions that are set aside and invested (usually in stocks and bonds). The donor's original gift, the corpus, grows over time as a result of the appreciation of the assets and income earned. Each year a certain percentage of the dollars earned on the corpus is paid out to support Temple's operating budget. This year's endowment distribution was $1.2 million to Temple and its cemetery.

We look forward to sharing more details about the Endowment Campaign and meaningful ways to participate in the weeks and months to come.

A Letter from the Foundation President

Some 22 years ago, the Temple Emanu-El Foundation was created to provide support for Temple and its cemetery for generations to come. Our goal is to leave a strong legacy for our children, grandchildren and beyond.

The Foundation's Board of Directors and advisors are focused on managing its endowment assets for long-term growth, while supporting quarterly distributions to Temple and its cemetery. The Foundation held $3.85 million in assets at the time of its creation in 2000; assets under management are currently $31.9 million.

Since it began operation, the Foundation has distributed more than $14.9 million to Temple and its cemetery. Stated differently, in 22 years, Temple's endowment has grown ten-fold through contributions and growth, from $3.85 million to $31.9 million, while also distributing over $14.9 million to Temple and its cemetery. The Foundation's average annual investment return since inception is 7.23%; the benchmark for the same mix of equities and fixed income since inception is 6.73%.

Looking at the recent fiscal year, the Foundation distributed $1.2 million to Temple and its cemetery, which supported about 7.7% of the operating budget. The goal of TE150, Temple's Endowment Campaign, is to increase the level of distributions from 7.7% of Temple's operating budget to 15% of the budget.

None of this would be possible without the generosity of our donors and the commitment of those with whom I've had the privilege of working during this journey: an extraordinary group of officers, Board of Directors and Temple professional staff. We're confident that the Foundation will continue to play a vital role in sustaining the future of Temple and its cemetery.

Respectfully,
Larry Ginsburg

The Mark and Peggy Zilbermann Tzedakah Fund

The Temple Emanu-El Foundation welcomed the addition of a new philanthropic fund to help those in need escape the cycle of poverty in the North Texas region. The Mark and Peggy Zilbermann Tzedakah Fund made its first grants in Summer 2022 to address the challenges of housing, education, hunger, health and other issues encountered by those in poverty.

Mark and Peggy said that in creating the fund, they wanted to give back to the community that has given them so much. "Temple is already a social justice powerhouse, where people volunteer their time and stand up for what is right," said Mark in announcing the fund. Added Peggy: "We knew the Foundation would be a good custodian for this fund, and we felt the impact would be magnified if Temple was involved with it."

The Fund is housed at the Temple Emanu-El Foundation, and recipients are awarded by its Grants Committee, led by Sheryl Fields Bogen. "Thanks to the Zilbermanns' generosity, we have the opportunity to make a difference in so many areas," Sheryl said.

What are endowment funds and why are they important at Temple Emanu-El?

Endowment funds create a permanent source of financial support for the mission of Temple Emanu-El. Establishing an endowed fund, or contributing to an existing fund, presents a unique opportunity to address the donor's interests and Temple's highest priorities. These funds can be created through current gifts of cash or securities as well as through estates and other deferred gift instruments. Endowed funds provide recognition opportunities by naming the fund in honor of family and friends or others who have been meaningful in the donor's life.

Our Temple | Our Future

We are forever grateful to Our Temple | Our Future donors for helping make Temple so full of possibilities.

Bea Goldman Covenant Society

The Bea Goldman Covenant Society was founded in 2001 to recognize those who provide for the future of Temple Emanu-El in their estate plans. The society has been named to honor the memory of Bea Goldman, who was devoted to Temple in her lifetime and directed that virtually all of her estate benefit Temple.

We acknowledge with gratitude the members of the Bea Goldman Covenant Society, listed below, who have notified Temple of their planned gifts or have generously designated Temple as a beneficiary of their wills.

If you have left a gift to Temple in your will or other estate plans, but are not listed as a member of the Bea Goldman Covenant Society, we encourage you to notify Temple's Development Office so that we may recognize your generosity by including your name.
